12. Ames Ray commenced the underlying lawsuit captioned Ames Ray v. Christina Ray against Christina Ray in 1998. The complaint in that action seeks damages from Christina Ray for breach of a series of contracts.

13. The subject contracts were premised upon obligations assumed by Christina Ray, which were reflected in a series of promissory notes and contracts. Ames Ray alleged that Christina Ray failed to pay, and he sued to recover.

14. That action is pending in New York State Supreme Court.

15. Attorneys at Dechert LLP originally represented Christina Ray in the underlying lawsuit Ames Ray v. Christina Ray. Christina Ray then appeared pro se in the matter until on or about March of 2012 when the Law Offices of Donald Watnick was substituted as her attorney of record.

16. During the course of their representation of Christina Ray, attorneys Donald Watnick, Julie Stark and John Does 1-5 have made or consented to a series of deceitful statements and representations to the New York State Supreme Court and the New York State Supreme Court, Appellate Division in order to obtain an advantage in litigation.

17. Upon information and belief, these deceitful statements and representations were made or consented to with the intent to deceive the New York State Supreme Court and the New York State Supreme Court, Appellate Division in order to obtain an advantage in litigation.

18. Attorney Donald Watnick made an extremely deceitful statement in opposition to a motion in limine.

19. Prior to trial, both counsel for plaintiff and Christina Ray exchanged expert reports prepared by psychiatrists that addressed Christina Ray's historical mental state. Dr. Kirstein, Ames Ray's expert witness, critiqued Christina Ray's expert report.

20. Plaintiff then made a motion seeking to preclude the admission of Christina Ray's expert's report into evidence at trial.

21. On January 25, 2013 attorney Donald Watnick filed a brief in opposition to this motion.

22. In this brief, Donald Watnick stated, "The third quarrel Dr. Kirstein has with the Report is that his review of the evidence does not reveal physical abuse. Clearly, Dr. Kirstein missed plaintiff's admission in his deposition that he physically abused Christina and that she was fearful of him."

23. Plaintiff never admitted to physically abusing Christina Ray.

24. Upon information and belief, Christina Ray has never stated that plaintiff physically abused her.

25. Upon information and belief, Donald Watnick had no evidence that plaintiff physically abused Christina Ray, or that he admitted to physically abusing Christina Ray.

26. Upon information and belief there is no evidence plaintiff physically abused Christina Ray.

27. Upon information and belief Donald Watnick made this deceitful statement, knowing it was untrue, with the intent to deceive the New York State Supreme Court in order to obtain an advantage in litigation.

28. Upon further information and belief Defendants Julie Stark and John Does 1-5 contributed or consented to the drafting of this subject deceitful statement, knowing it was untrue, with the intent to deceive the New York State Supreme Court in order to obtain an advantage in litigation.

29. Donald Watnick made an additional deceitful statement in this brief when he said “as this Court recognized, plaintiff also admits the existence of oppressive circumstances and that he knew Christina feared him.”

30. The New York State Supreme Court never recognized that the Plaintiff admitted Christina Ray feared him, or that there existed oppressive circumstances.

31. Upon information and belief, Donald Watnick had no evidence that plaintiff admitted that Christina Ray was afraid of him, or that plaintiff admitted that there existed oppressive circumstances.

32. Upon information and belief Donald Watnick made this deceitful statement or representation, knowing it was untrue, with the intent to deceive the New York State Supreme Court in order to obtain an advantage in litigation.

33. Upon information and belief Defendants Julie Stark and John Does 1-5 contributed or consented to the drafting of this deceitful statement, knowing it was untrue, with the intent to deceive the New York State Supreme Court in order to obtain an advantage in litigation.

34. Defendants Donald Watnick, Julie Stark and John Does 1-5 also made or consented to deceitful statements and representations about the character of discovery produced by plaintiff with the intent to deceive the New York State Supreme Court and the New York State Supreme Court, Appellate Division in order to obtain an advantage in litigation.

35. Specifically, on December 5, 2012, in support of a motion seeking spoliation sanctions, defendants falsely alleged plaintiff failed to produce discovery. One issue in the December 5, 2012 motion was the applicability of a material confession of judgment, which defendants and Christina Ray pejoratively call “the Confession.” Another issue was the enforceability of a letter agreement, which defendants and Christina Ray pejoratively call “the Penalty Letter.”

36. Defendants Donald Watnick, Julie Stark and John Does 1-5 stated or consented to the deceitful statement that “Ames produced only one letter that preceded the date of the Confession – the unsigned Feb. 17, 1993 letter about the Confession and that stated that it was from Christina to Alkalay. Conspicuously absent from Ames’ and Alkalay’s document productions are any drafts of the Confession, written communications about the Confession or notes about its drafting or its enforcement.” Defendants also deceitfully stated, “Ames produced no documents relating to [the Penalty Letter’s] creation.”

37. Plaintiff did produce documents relating to both the confession of judgment and Penalty Letter in controversy, including their creation.

38. Defendants Donald Watnick, Julie Stark and John Does 1-5 made or consented to further deceitful statements in the December 5, 2012 brief. Defendants Donald Watnick, Julie Stark and John Does 1-5 stated or consented to the deceitful statement that “without [the Solomon Action]¹ files, Christina is unfairly denied evidence ... The prejudice here is especially severe because there are no documents that address these issues and plaintiff’s attorneys had access to the Salomon Action file...”

39. Plaintiff did produce documents concerning the Solomon litigation, confession of judgment, and Penalty Letter in controversy.

40. An order granting spoliation sanctions was granted by the Supreme Court, which prompted an appeal.

41. In that appeal, defendant Donald Watnick made additional deceitful statements in his August 22, 2014 brief to the New York Appellate Division, First Department when he stated “Ames produced no documents relating to its [the Penalty Letter’s] creation.”

42. Plaintiff did produce documents concerning the Penalty Letter in controversy.

43. The Appellate Division, First Department granted plaintiff’s appeal and reversed the grant of spoliation sanctions.

44. Upon information and belief Donald Watnick made or consented to this series of deceitful statements, knowing they were untrue, with the intent to deceive the New York State Supreme Court and the New York State Supreme Court, Appellate Division in order to obtain an advantage in litigation.

45. Upon information and belief Defendants Julie Stark and John Does 1-5 contributed or consented to the drafting of these deceitful statements, knowing they were untrue, with the intent to deceive the New York State Supreme Court and the New York State Supreme Court, Appellate Division in order to obtain an advantage in litigation.

46. Another material dispute in the underlying lawsuit, Ames Ray v. Christina Ray, concerns credit card debt. In Donald Watnick's January 25, 2013 memorandum he deceitfully stated "although plaintiff seeks to recover monies he paid toward Christina's credit card debts, he failed to produce a shred of documentary evidence that he ever made such payments." Donald Watnick further deceitfully stated "no such files have been produced and plaintiff's failure to preserve them denies Christina evidence that would directly bear upon whether Ames paid this credit card debt."

47. Plaintiff did produce documents relating to his payment of Christina Ray's credit card debts.

48. Upon information and belief Donald Watnick made or consented to this series of deceitful statements, knowing they were untrue, with the intent to deceive the New York State Supreme Court and the New York State Supreme Court, Appellate Division in order to obtain an advantage in litigation.

49. Upon information and belief Defendants Julie Stark and John Does 1-5 contributed or consented to the drafting of these deceitful statements, knowing they were untrue, with the intent to deceive the New York State Supreme Court and the New York State Supreme Court, Appellate Division in order to obtain an advantage in litigation.

50. Upon information and belief, Defendants Donald Watnick, Julie Stark and John Does 1-5 made or consented to additional deceitful statements and misrepresentations, knowing they were untrue, with the intent to deceive the New York State Supreme Court and the New York State Supreme Court, Appellate Division to obtain an advantage in litigation.

51. As the result of the foregoing series of deceitful statements, plaintiff has sustained damages, including but not limited to: attorneys fees, including those incurred in defending himself from the deceitful statements and representations; injury and damage to his personal and professional reputation; and treble damages pursuant to New York Judiciary Law § 487(1).

of judgment; and that plaintiff did not provide evidence that he paid Christina Ray's credit card debt.

55. Upon information and belief, attorneys Donald Watnick, Julie Stark and John Does 1-5 made or consented to these deceitful statements and representations with the intent to deceive the New York State Supreme Court and the New York State Supreme Court, Appellate Division in order to obtain an advantage in litigation.
